To whom it may concern:

Rachel Wilkie has worked with Snelling Staffing since October 2007. She has been instrumental in assisting in the creation of several successful marketing promotions. In addition she has created and distributed ezines, newsletters, flyers, and brochures. Tracking the results of the promotional emails has also been an important part of her role.

Rachel brings determination and an outgoing personality to our team. I have found her to be very skilled in taking ideas and suggestions and making them come to life. Her skills in Photoshop have been a great asset to our programs. She even took the initiative to learn new programs on her own time. Rachel is a hard working and responsible individual. She is always willing to help even with tedious everyday tasks, doing what it takes to get the job done.

I am sure that Rachel will continue to learn and grow and will be an asset to any organization.

Sincerely,
